Gentlemen:

When I had the pleasure of visiting your rooms, you showed to me a copy of the "Numismatist" for 1918. If I am not mistaken, you had copies, possibly sets, of that periodical for sale. I am interested just at present in H. D. Allen's articles on Confederate money. What would be the price of the magazines containing these articles. They began in June 1917 and ended - ? The copy at the Congressional Library is at the binder's and I cannot verify the above facts.

Yours truly

W. J. Hoewelt,

April 17th, 1920.

Dear Sir:-

In response to your note of April 14th we shall be very glad to send you the copies of the Humismatist you desire for fifteen cents each. Mr. Allen's article appears in twenty-one copies, and that would make the cost three dollars and fifteen cents. We can mail them to you on receipt of your response.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.
